“We would not be here today without the support, passion and dedication of our members.”

“We have much to celebrate.”

As we celebrate the Institute’s 30th anniversary, I would like to thank you for your part in our success and longevity. We would not be here today without the support, passion and dedication of our members.

EIANZ has come a long way in its 30 years, with the inclusion of New Zealand and development of the key elements of a professional association with certification, annual conference, a journal, a code of ethics and local events. There is still more to be done in advancing professional practice, supporting members, connecting practitioners, and representing and leading the profession.

I look forward to the future as we continue to grow in influence and direct our focus to facilitating professional development, enhancing member services, encouraging new initiatives, incorporating sustainability in public policy, and increasing recognition of professional accreditation in legislation, business and the community.

Thank you once again for your continued support of EIANZ.

Bryan Jenkins FEIANZ
President

When we first established the Institute in 1987, I never imagined that 30 years later we would have expanded our membership to our New Zealand colleagues and be celebrating our success here today.

Our focus in those early years was on establishing the profession. I looked forward to the day when environmental professionals would be recognised as ‘Earth Doctors’, responsible for the sustainability of our ecosystems and the wellbeing of its inhabitants.

On our journey so far there have been outstanding achievements:

- Our journal
- The Certified Environmental Practitioner Scheme
- The Qualifications Accreditation Scheme
- The comradeship that led to the EIANZ.

We have much to celebrate.
