Resilience is the capacity of individuals, communities, institutions, businesses, and systems to survive, adapt, and thrive no matter what kinds of chronic stresses and acute shocks they experience.

Sydney, Australia

The image features a panoramic view of a coastal city, likely Sydney, Australia, with a mix of residential and commercial buildings along the waterfront. The sky is filled with large, dark, dramatic clouds, suggesting an approaching storm or late afternoon light. The foreground shows the ocean with some large rocks and a blurred effect, possibly from a long exposure. The title 'SYDNEY'S RESILIENCE STRATEGY' is centered in the upper half of the image. 'SYDNEY'S' is in a bold, dark blue font, while 'RESILIENCE STRATEGY' is in a bold, white font.

Resilient Sydney

Is Sydney ready?

On Tuesday 8 November 2016, CityTalks discussed how we can build a stronger more resilient city. President of 100 Resilient Cities, Michael Berkowitz was the keynote speaker.

We include communities in decision making for growth and equity.

We adapt to sustain our quality of life and our environment.

Every Sydneysider will feel they belong in our community and city.

We know how to prepare, respond and recover.

We are one city.
